FOREWORDS TO "THE WHOLE CONTENTION,"

1619.

§ 1. THE reason for the appearance of this Third Quarto, The Whole Contention, 1619, before the first Quartos of The Contention 1594, and The True Tragedy 1595, is, that the unique originals of the first Quartos are in the Bodleian, while Mr Praetorius works in the British Museum (where a copy of Q3 is), and the Bodleian authorities refused to send their Quartos to be fotograft in the Museum. Next month, however, either Mr Praetorius or his partner will go up to Oxford, and fotograf the 1594 Contention, and the 1595 True Tragedy, 'in situ'; and their Facsimiles will come to our Subscribers in due course.

'The Whole Contention' is, as its name indicates, in one volume, yet its Facsimile appears in two Parts. The reason is, that Mr Quaritch didn't like to double the price of one volume of the Series, while on the other hand Mr Praetorius couldn't afford to give two Parts or volumes as one. To any Subscriber who looks at the necessary cost of the production of these Facsimiles, it must be plain, that, tho' we Editors all work for nothing, 3s. a volume can hardly do more than cover the expense of fotografing, lithografing, number-writing, correcting and printing the text, and paying the Printer's bill for the Forewords or Introduction. As Mr Quaritch pays for the 500 copies of every volume on their delivery, and takes his chance of the Series being completed, and the books then selling in sets, he having to incur fresh cost to supply the numbers short through Mr Griggs's fire, no one can deny that he is entitled to such profit on the venture as he may be able to get. The production of the Quartos has turnd solely on his willingness to advance their cost, on delivery. And when any student contrasts the present Series with the hand-made ones by Mr Ashbee, sold by Halliwell at Five Guineas a-piece,—without any helpful Forewords, side-numbers, and marks of differences from the Folio, &c.—he can estimate what he owes to Mr Quaritch, Mr Griggs, Mr Praetorius, and the volunteer Editors, to whom is due the existence of this Series, this great boon to the real student of Shakspeare's text.

§ 2. Had the First Quartos of the Contention and True Tragedy been facsimiled first, the side-marks to this Whole Contention of 1619 would have noted only its differences from the First Quartos. But as Q3 was to come out first,—in October last, as I thought, when I markt it in August at Castleton village, on the edge of the North-Riding moors, 15 miles West of Whitby,—I rezolv'd to take the further trouble of marking Q3 by the Folio—or rather, the Globe Shakspeare—as well as by Q1.¹ Accordingly the marks on the outer edges of the pages² show when Q3 differs from the Globe text (that is, the Folio with a few changes), while the few marks on the inner edges show where Q3 differs from Q1. ‘§’ marks lines special to Q3; a dot ‘.’ lines partly altered from Q1.

§ 3. The main changes which Q3 makes in the text of Q1, showing that some Editor or Reviser workt at it, are four in number, which I arrange here, beside the further revision in the First Folio, as I did in The New Shakspeare Society's Transactions, 1875-6, p. 285-8. The words in which both Q3 and F1 differ from Q1 are printed in italics. The differences special to Q3 are in clarendon; those special to F1 are in SMALL CAPITALS:

Who is responsible for the italic and clarendon parts of the 1619 edition? who for the small-capitals part of the 1623?

II.

Again, in Act I, scene ii, Q1, 1594 has these two lines:

But ere it be long, Ile go before them all,
Despight of all that seeke to crosse me thus,

² A star * marks the lines not in F1, ‘+’ those altered in F1. ‘<’ marks an omission in Q3 as compared with F1.

In the Quarto of 1619 and the Folio of 1623, are instead,

1619. Contention , Act I. sc. ii. l. 61-7 (p. 9 below).	1623. 2 Henry VI , Act I. sc. ii. l. 61-7.
He come after you, for I cannot go before,	FOLLOW I MUST: I cannot go before,
As long as Gloster beares this base and humble minde:	WHILE Gloster bears this base and humble mind:
Were I a man, and Protector as he is,	Were I a man, A DUKE, and NEXT OF BLOOD,
I'de reach to th' crowne, or make some hop headlesse:	I WOULD REMOVE THESE TEDIOUS STUMBLING-BLOCKS, AND SMOOTH MY WAY UPON THEIR headless NECKS:
And being but a woman, ile not [be] behinde	And, being a woman, I will not be SLACK

Further again, compare :

 the raigne / of Bullen-brooke, the Duke of Yorke did claime the Crowne, and / but for Owyn Glendor, had bene King./

Yorke. True. But so it for-tuned then, by meanes of that mon/strous rebel Glendor, the noble Duke of York was done to death, / and so euer since the heires of Iohn of Gaunt haue possessed the Crowne.

But if the issue of the elder should succed before the is/sue of the yonger, then am I lawfull heire vnto the kingdome./¹

 EDMOND HAD ISSUE, ROGER, EARLE OF MARCH;
 ROGER HAD ISSUE, EDMOND, ANNE, AND ELI-ANOR.
Salisb. THIS EDMOND, in the Reigne of Bullingbrooke,
 AS I HAUE READ, LAYD clayme VNTO the Crowne,
 And but for Owen Glendour, had beene King ;
 WHO KEPT HIM IN CAPTIUITIE, TILL HE DYED.
 BUT, TO THE REST.

Yorke. HIS ELDEST SISTER, ANNE,
 MY MOTHER, BEING HEIRE VNTO THE
 CROWNE,
 MARRIED RICHARD, EARLE OF CAMBRIDGE,
 WHO WAS TO EDMOND LANGLEY,
 EDWARD THE THIRDS FIFT SONNES SONNE ;
 BY HER I CLAYME THE KINGDOME :
 SHE WAS HEIRE TO ROGER, EARLE OF MARCH,
 WHO WAS THE SONNE OF EDMOND MORTIMER,
 WHO MARRIED PHILLIP, SOLE DAUGHTER
 VNTO LIONEL, DUKE OF CLARENCE.
 SO, if the Issue of the elder SONNE
 Succeed before the younger, I am KING.

¹ The genealogy in the 1594 edition of Contention is so inaccurate that I should doubt the existence of any historical work from which it could be derived. The reviser of the edition published in 1619 would find in Holinshed (edition 2, vol. iii, pp. 657-9) the articles of agreement between Henry VI. and Richard Duke of York, whereby Henry VI. was to be acknowledged as King during his life, and the Duke was declared to be heir apparent.

In this document there is a genealogy (p. 657), starting from Henry III, which gives Edward III.'s sons and Richard Duke of York's descent from Lionel Duke of Clarence. Henry VI.'s descent from John of Gaunt is also compared with Mortimer's line (p. 657-8).—W. G. STONE.

² Changes of 'and' to '&', and vice versâ, and different stops, abbreviations, and spellings (Hum. Q3, Humphr. Q1; S. Q3, Saint Q1), or separations or joinings of words (Me thought, Methought; be gone, begone; &c.), are not notised.

§ 5. Now of all theſe changes, can any be ſet down to Shakſpere? None, at firſt hand, I think. True that in I, p. iv, as in other caſes, part of the changes made by the Q3 Revizer of Q1 are found in F1, but they are changes ſuch as may have been made by a Revizer who heard the Folio Play (2 Hen. VI.) with a copy of Q1 or Q2 in his hand, or who had the chance of taking a note or two from the Burbage-playhouſe copy, and then made further independent corrections at home. Shakſpere was no doubt the revizer of Act I, ſcene ii, and Act II, ſcene ii, of 2 Hen. VI. from The Con'ention Q1, comprising all the main changes, I, II, III, IV, abuv.¹ He may of courſe have revized the ground-play twice; but if he did, his changes would ſurely have appeared in Q2, 1600, and not been kept back till 1619. The text of 2 Hen. VI. as it ſtands is ſo little like Shakſpere's work after 1600, that I think we may ſafely conclude he had nothing to do directly with the Quarto of 1619.

§ 6. It will be uſeful to ſtudents to give here the ſtatement which will be printed alſo in Q1, of Miſs Jane Lee's assignment of the ſeveral parts of The Contentiſon, 1594, to Marlowe and Greene,

New Sh. Soc.'s Trans., 1875-6, p. 304-5. The two writers' work is broadly discernible by Marlowe's fuller and more sustained line, and Greene's more choppy verse.

- p. 3-6. 2 Hen. VI, I. i. (Cont. sc. i.), beginning "As by your high imperiall Maiesties command¹," Marlowe and Greene together.
- p. 6. 2 Hen. VI, I. ii. (Cont. sc. ii.), from "Why droopes my Lord like ouer ripened corne," Greene.
- p. 9-14. 2 Hen. VI, I. iii. (Cont. sc. iii.): "Come sirs let vs linger here abouts a while," Greene, ll. 1-40; then Marlowe writes to l. 111; then Greene to end of scene.
- p. 14-22. 2 Hen. VI, I. iv. to II. i. (Cont. sc. iv., v.): "Here Sir Iohn, take this scrole of paper here," Greene. "My Lord, how did your grace like this last flight," Greene.
- p. 22-3. 2 Hen. VI, II. ii.-iv. (Cont. sc. vi.): "My Lords our simple supper ended, thus," Marlowe; but Warwick's part is perhaps written by Greene.
- p. 23-5. 2 Hen. VI, II. iii., iv. (Cont. sc. vii., viii.): "Stand fourth Dame Elnor Cobham Duches of Gloster," Greene.
- p. 27-31. 2 Hen. VI, III. i. (Cont. sc. ix.): "I wonder our vnclè Gloster staies so long," Marlowe to l. 169, "Now York bethink thy self and rowse thee vp," when Greene takes it up and writes on to the end of the scene. Also, Greene may have written, or aided in writing, Humphrey's part in the previous lines.
- p. 32-9. 2 Hen. VI, III. ii. (Cont. sc. x.): "How now sirs, what haue you dispatcht him?" Marlowe; though some of the wrens, ravens, basilisks, lambs, scorpions, partridges, puttocks, kites, lizards, serpents, screech-owls, were, I imagine, suggestions of Greene's.
- p. 39. 2 Hen. VI, III. iii. (Cont. sc. xi.): "Oh death, if thou wilt let me liue but one whole yeare," Marlowe.
- p. 43-7. 2 Hen. VI, IV. i., ii. (Cont. sc. xii., xiii.): "Bring forward these prisoners that scorn'd to yeld," Greene.
- p. 49. 2 Hen. VI, IV. iii. (Cont. sc. xiv.): Sir Dicke Butcher, thou hast fought to-day most valiantly," Greene.
- p. 49-50. 2 Hen. VI, IV. iv. (Cont. sc. xv.): "Sir Humphrey Stafford and his brother is slaine," ? Greene—certainly not Marlowe.
- p. 50-56. 2 Hen. VI, IV. v.-x. (Cont. sc. xvi.-xx.): "How now, is Iacke Cade slaine?" Greene.
- p. 57-59. 2 Hen. VI, V. i. 1-115 (Cont. sc. xxi., xxii.): "In Armes from Ireland comes Yorke amaine," ? Greene—certainly not Marlowe.
- p. 59-60, 2 Hen. VI, V. i. 124-216. "Long liue my noble Lord, and soueraigne King," Marlowe.
- p. 61-4. 2 Hen. VI, V. ii., iii. (Cont. sc. xxiii.): "So Lie thou there, and breathe thy last" [Q1, and tumble in thy blood Q3], ll. 1-8, Greene; then Marlowe writes on to the end, except that Greene writes ll. 20-39.

§ 7. The transfer of the negatives to stone, and the printing of the text, have been done by a firm in Hamburg, in a way which contrasts delightfully with Messrs Unwin's disastrous failure with Quarto 1 of Henry V. But the original of The Whole Contention is in better condition than that of the Museum copy of Henry V, Q1.

¹ For the style and run of the lines in Henry's and Margaret's speeches to each other, cf. the passage beginning: "These gracious words most royal Carolus."—Faustus, IV. i.—JANE LEE.

The first part of the Contention of the two Famous Houses of Yorke and Lancaster, with the death of the good Duke Humfrey.

Enter at one doore, King Henry the sixt, and Humfrey Duke of Glocester, the Duke of Somerset, the Duke of Buckingham, Cardinall Bewford, and others.

Enter at the other doore, the Duke of Yorke, and the Marques of Suffolke, and Queen Margaret, and the Earle of Salisbury and Warwicke.

Suffolke.

AS by your high Imperiall Maiesties command,
I had in charge at my depart for France,
As Procurator for your Excellence,
To marry Princes Margaret for your Grace;
So in the ancient famous City Towers,
In presence of the Kings of France and Cyffile,
The Dukes of Orleance, Calabar, Britaine, and Alonson.
Seuen Earles, twelue Barons, and twenty reuerend Bishops,
I did performe my taske, and was espoused,
And now, most humbly on my bended knees,
In sight of England and her royall Peeres,
Deliuier vp my title in the Queene
Vnto your gracious Excellence, that are the substance
Of that great shadow I did represent:
The happiest gift that euer Marquesse gaue,
The fairest Queene that euer King posselt.

The contention of the two famous Houses

King. Suffolke arise.

Welcome Queene Margaret to English Henries Court,
 The greatest shew of kindnesse yet we can bestow,
 Is this kinde kisse: O gracious God of heauen,
 Lend me a heart replete with thankfulnessse,
 For in this beauteous face thou hast bestowd
 A world of pleasures to my perplexed soule.

Queene. Th'excessiue loue I beare vnto your Grace,
 Forbids me to be lauish of my tongue,
 Least I should speake more then besecmes a woman:
 Let this suffice, my blisse is in your liking,
 And nothing can make poore Margaret miserable,
 Vnlesse the frowne of mighty Englands king.

King. Her lookes did wound, but now her speech doth pierce
 Louely Queene Margaret sit downe by my side:
 And Vnkle Gloster, and you Lordly Peeres,
 With one voyce welcome my beloved Queene.

All. Long liue Queene Margaret, Englands happinesse.

Queene. VVe thanke you all.

Sound trumpets

Suffolke. My Lord Protector, so it please your Grace, Heere are the Articles confirmd, of peace
 Betweene our Soueraigne and the French king Charles,
 Till terme of eighteene months be full expir'd.

Hum. Inprimis, It is agreed betweene the French king Charles and William de La Pole Marquesse of Suffolke, Embassador for Henry king of England, that the saide Henry shal wed & espouse
 the Lady Margaret, daughter to Raynard King of Naples, Cyffels, and Ierusalem, and crowne her Queene of England, ere the thirty day of the next month.

Item, It is further agreed betweene them, that the Dutchesse of Anioy and of Maine, shall be releas'd and deliuered ouer to the King her sa—

Duke Humfrey lets it fall.

King. How now vnckle, whats the matter that you stay so sodainly.

Hum. Pardon my Lord, a sodaine qualme came ore my heart, which dimmes mine eyes that I can reade no more.

My

of Yorke and Lancaster.

My Lord of Yorke, I pray do you reade on.

Yorke. Item, It is further agreed betweene them, that the Dutchesse of Anioy and of Mayne, shall bee releas'd and deliuered ouer to the King her father, and she sent ouer of the king of Englands owne proper cost and charges, without dowry.

King. They please vs well, Lord Marquesse kneele downe: we heere create thee first Duke of Suffolke, and girt thee with the sword. Cofin of Yorke, wee heere discharge your Grace from being Regent in the parts of France, till terme of 18. months be full expirde.

Thanks vnckle Winchester, Gloster, Torke, and Buckingham, Somerset, Salisbury, and Warwicke.

We thanke you for all this great fauour done,
In entertainment to my Princely Queene,
Come let vs in, and with all speede prouide
To see her Coronation be performd.

Exit King, Queene, and Suffolke, & Duke Humphrey steyes all the rest.

Hum. Braue Peeres of England, pillars of the State,
To you Duke Humphrey must vnfold his greefe,
What did my brother Henry toile himselfe,
And waste his subiects for to conquer France?
And did my brother Bedford spend his time,
To keepe in awe that stibut vnrlly Realme?
And haue not I and mine vnckle Bewford heere,
Done all we could to keepe that land in peace?
And is all our labours then spent quite in vaine?
For Suffolke he, thonew made Duke that rules the roaft,
Hath giuen away for our King Henries Queene,
The Dutchesse of Anioy and Mayne vnto her father.
Ah Lords, fatall is this marriage, cancelling our states,
Reuerfing monuments of conquered France,
Vndoing all, as none had nere beene done.

Card. Why how now cofin Gloster, what needs this?
As if our King were bound vnto your will,
And might not do his will without your leaue,
Proud Protector, enuy in thine eyes I see,

Ii.

The contention of the two famous Houses,

The big swolne venome of thy hatefull heart,
That dares presume gainst that thy Soueraigne likes.

Hum. Nay my Lords, tis not my words that troubles you,
But my presence, proud Prelate as thou art :
But ile be gone, and giue thee leaue to speake.
Farewell my Lords, and say when I am gone,
I prophesied France would be lost ere long.

Exit Duke Humfrey.

Card. There goes our Protector in a rage.
My Lords you know he is my great enemy,
And though he be Protector of the Land,
And thereby couers his deceitfull thoughts.
For you well see, if he but walke the streetes,
The common people swarme about him straight,
Crying Iesus blesse your royall excellence,
With God preferue the good Duke Humfrey,
And many things besides that are not knowne,
Which time will bring to light in smooth duke Humfrey.
But I will after him, and if I can,
Ile lay a plot to heaue him from his seate.

Exit Cardinall.

Buck. But let vs watch this haughty Cardinall,
Cofin of Somerfet be rulde by me,
Weele watch duke Humfrey and the Cardinall too,
And put them from the marke they faine would hit.

Somer. Thankes cofin Buckingham, ioyne thou with me,
And both of vs with the duke of Suffolke,
Weele quickly heaue duke Humfrey from his seate.

Buck. Content, come then let vs about it straight,
For either thou or I will be Protector.

Exit Buckingham and Somerset.

Sal. Pride went before, ambition followes after.
Whilst these do seeke their owne preferments thus,
My Lords let vs seeke for our Conuntries good:
Oft haue I seene this haughty Cardinall
Sweare, and forswear himselse, and braue it out,
More like a Ruffian then a man of the Church.

Cofine

Torke and Lancaster.

Cosin Torke, the victories thou hast wonne,
 In Ireland, Normandy, and in France,
 Hath wonne thee immortall praise in England.
 And thou braue Warwicke, my thrice valiant sonne,
 Thy simple plainnesse and thy house-keeping,
 Hath won thee credit amongst the common sort,
 The reuerence of mine age, and Neuels name,
 Is of no little force if I command,
 Then let vs ioyne all three in one for this,
 That good duke Humfrey may his state possesse,
 But wherefore weepes Warwicke my noble sonne.

War. For greefe that all is lost that Warwicke won,
Sonnes. Anioy and Maine, both giuen away at once,
 Why Warwick did win them, & must that then which we wonne with our swords, be giuen away with words.

Torke. As I haue read, our Kings of England were wont to haue large dowries with their wiues, but our king Henry giues away his owne.

Sals. Come sonnes away and looke vnto the maine.

War. Vnto the Maine, Oh father Maine is lost,
 Which Warwicke by maine force did vvin from France,
Maine chance father you meant, but I meant Maine,
 Which I vwill vvin from France, or else bee slaine.

Exit Salisbury and Warwicke.

Torke. Anioy and Maine, both giuen vnto the French,
 Cold neves for me, for I had hope of France,
 Euen as I haue of fertile England.

A day will come when Torke shall claime his owne,
 And therefore I will take the Neuels parts,
 And make a shew of loue to proud duke Humfrey:
 And when I spy aduantage, claime the Crowne,
 For thats the golden marke I seeke to hit:
 Nor shall proud Lancaster vsurpe my right,
 Nor hold the Scepter in his childish fist,
 Nor weare the diadem vpon his head,
 Whose Church-like humors fits not for a Crowne:
 Then Torke be still a while till time doe serue,

I. i.The contention of the two famous Houses,

Watch thou, and wake when others be asleepe,
 To pry into the secrets of the state,
 248 Till Henry surfetting in ioyes of loue,
 With his new Bride, and Englands deere bought Queene,
 And Humfrey with the Peeres be false at iarres,
 Then will I raise aloft the milke-white Rose,
 252 With whose sweet smell the ayre shall be perfumde,
 And in my Standard beare the Armes of Yorke,
 To grapple with the house of Lancaster :
 And force perforce, ile make him yelde the Crowne, 256 Whose bookeish rule hath Puld faire England downe.

*Exit Yorke.*I. ii.*Enter Duke Humfrey, and Dame Ellanor,

1 Elnor. Why droopes my Lord like ouer-ripened Corne,
 Hanging the head at Ceres plenteous load,
 + 37 What seest thou Duke Humfrey King Henries Crowne?
 + 14, 12 Reach at it, and if thine arme bee too short,
 + 12 Mine shall lengthen it. Art thou not a Prince ?
 * Vnckle to the King? and his Protector?
 * Then what shouldst thou lacke that might content thy minde ?
 + 17 Hum. My louely Nell, farre be it from my heart,
 + 20 To thinke of treasons gainst my Soueraigne Lord,
 + 22 But I was troubled with a dreame to night,
 * And God I pray, it do betide none ill.

+ 23 Elnor. What dreamt my Lord? Good Humfrey tell it me,
 + 1 And ile interpret it : and when thats done,
 + 24 Ile tell thee then what I did dreame to night.

* Hum. This night when I was laid in bed, I dreamt
 + 25 That this my staffe, mine Office badge in Court,
 + 1 Was broke in twaine, by whom I cannot gesse :
 + 1 But as I thinke by the Cardinall. What it bodes
 + 28 God knowes ; and on the ends were plac'd
 30 The heads of Edmund Duke of Somerset,
 And William de la Pole first Duke of Suffolke.

Elnor. Tust

Yorke and Lancaster.

Elnor. Tush my Lord, this signifies nought but this.
That he that breakes a sticke of Glosters groue,
Shall for the offence make forset of his head.
But now my Lord ile tell you what I dreamt,
Methought I was in the Cathedrall Church
At Westminster, and seated in the chaire
Where Kings and Queenes are crown'd, and at my feete
Henry and Margaret with a Crowne of Gold,
Stood ready to set it on my Princely head.

Hum. Fic Nell. Ambitious woman as thou art,
Art thou not second woman in this land,
And the Protector's wife? belou'd of him?
And wilt thou still be hammering treason thus?
Away I say, and let me heare no more.

Elnor. How now my Lord, what angry with your Nell
For telling but her dreame? The next I haue
Ile keepe it to my selfe, and not be rated thus,

Hum. Nay Nell, ile giue no credit to a dreame,
But I would haue thee to thinke on no such things.

Enter a Messenger.

Mess. And it please your Gracc, the King and Queen to morrow morning will ride a hawking to S. Albones, & craues your company along with them.

Hum. With all my heart; I will attend his Grace.
Come Nell, thou wilt go with vs I am sure.

Exit Humfrey.

Elnor. Ile come after you, for I cannot go before,
As long as Gloster beares this base and humble minde:
Were I a man, and Protector as he is,
I'de reach to'th Crowne, or make some hop headlesse.
And being but a woman, ile not behinde
For playing of my part, in spite of all that seek to crosse me thus:
Who is within there?

And all the Dukes and Earles along with him.
When they be gone, then safely may they come,
And on the backe side of my Orchard heere,
There cast their Spelles in silence of the night,
And so resolute vs of the thing we wish ;
Till when, drinke that for my sake, and so farewell.Exit Elmor.Sir John. Now sir John Hum, No words but mum.

Seale vp your lips, for you must silent be :

These gifts ere long will make me mighty rich,

The Dutchesse she thinkes now that all is well,

But I haue Gold comes from another place,

From one that hyred me to set her on,

To plot these treasons gainst the King and Peeres ;

And that is the mighty Duke of Suffolke.

For he it is, but I must not say so,

That by my meanes must worke the Dutchesse fall,

Who now by Coniurations thinkes to rise.

But whist sir John, no more of that I tro,

For feare you lose your head before you go.

+ 37
+ 38-9

The contention of the two famous Houses,
And send out a Pursuant for his master straight,
Weele heere more of this thing before the King.

Exit with the Armourers man.

+ 23

Now Sir, what's yours? Let me see it,
What's heere?

+ 24

A complaint against the Duke of Suffolke, for enclosing the commons of long Melford.

How now sir knaue.

I. Petit. I beseech your Grace to pardon me, I am but a Messenger for the whole towne-ship.

+ 27

He teares the Papers.

+ 42

Suffolke. So now shew your petitions to Duke Humphrey.
Villaines get you gone, and come not neere the Court,
Dare these peasants write against me thus?

Exit Petitioners.

+ 45

Queene. My Lord of Suffolke you may see by this,
The Commons loues vnto that haughty Duke,

+ 49

That seekes to him more then to King Henry :
Whose eyes are alwaies poring on his booke,

And nere regards the honor of his name,
But still must be protected like a childe,

+ II. iii. 29

And governed by that ambitious Duke,
That scarce will mooue his cap to speake to vs,

+ 79

And his proud wife, high-minded Elanor,

+ 80

That ruffles it with such a troope of Ladies,

+ 82

As strangers in the Court take her for Queene :

+ 83

She beares a Dukes whole reuennewes on her backe.

+ 87

The other day she vanted to her maides,

That the very traine of her worst gowne,

+ 89

Was worth more wealth then all my fathers landes.

Can any greefe of minde belike to this?

+ 53

I tell thee Pole, when thou didst run at Tilt,

+ 55

And stolst away our Ladies hearts in France,

+ 56

I thought King Henry had bene like to thee,

Or else thou hadst not brought me out of France.

+ 68

Suff. Madam, content your selfe a little while,

+ 69

As I was cause of your comming into England,

Yorke and Lancaster.

So will I in England worke your full content :
 And as for proud Duke Humphrey and his wife,
 I haue set lime twigs that will entangle them,
 As that your Grace ere long shall vnderstand,
 But stay Madame, heere comes the King.

Enter King Henrie, and the Duke of Yorke and the Duke of Sommer-set on both sides of the King, whispering with him : Then entereth Duke Humphrey, Dame Eleanor, the Duke of Buckingham, the Earle of Salisbury, the Earle of Warwicke, and the Cardinall of Winchester.

King. My Lords I care not who be Regent in France, or Yorke or Somerset, all's one to me.

Yorke. My Lord, if Yorke haue ill demean'd himselfe,
 Let Somerset enioy his place, and go to Fraunce.

Som. Then whom your grace thinks worthy, let him goe,
 And there be made the Regent ouer the French.

Warwicke. Whomsoeuer you account worthy,
Yorke is the worthiest.

Card. Peace Warwicke, giue thy betters leaue to speake.

War. The Cardnal's not my better in the field.

Buck. All in this place are thy betters farre.

War. And Warwicke may liue to be best of all.

Queene. My Lord in mine opinion, it were best that Somerset were Regent ouer France.

Hum. Madame, our King is olde enough himselfe,
 To giue his answer without your consent.

Queens. If he be old enough, what needs your Grace
 To be Protector ouer him so long.

Hum. Madam, I am but Protector ore the Land,
 And when it please his Grace, I will resigne my charge.

Suffolke. Religne it then, for since thou wast a King
 (As who is King but thee:) the common itate

Doth as we see, all wholly go to wracke,
 And Millions of treasure hath bene spent.

And as for the Regentship of France,

I. iiii.

The contention of the two famous Houses,

I say Somerset is more worthy then Yorke.

Yorke, Ile tell thee Suffolke why I am not worthy,
Because I cannot flatter as thou canst.

War. And yet the worthy deeds that Yorke hath done,
Should make him worthy to be honoured heere.

Suf. Peace head-strong Warwicke.

War. Image of pride, wherefore should I peace?

Suf. Because heere is a man accusde of Treason,
Pray God the Duke of Yorke do cleare himselfe.
Ho, bring hither the Armourer and his man.

Enter the Armourer and his man.

If it please your Grace, this fellow here, hath accused his master of high Treason, and his wordes were these: That the Duke of Yorke was lawfull heire vnto the Crowne, and that your Grace was an vsurper.

Yorke. I beseech your Grace let him haue what punnishment the Law will affoord for his villany.

King. Come hither fellow, didst thou speake these words?

Arm. An't shall please your worship, I neuer sayde any such matter, God is my witnesse, I am falsely accused by this villen heere.

Peter. Tis no matter for that, you did say so.

Yorke. I beseech your Grace, let him haue the Law.

Armorer. Alas master, hang me if euer I spake the words. My accuser is my prentice, and when I did correct him for his fault the other day, he did vow vpon his knees that he would be euen with mee: I haue good witnesse of this, and therefore I beseech your worship do not cast away an honest man for a villaines accusation.

King. Vncle Gloster, what do you thinke of this?

Hum. The law my Lord is this by case, it rests suspitious,
That a day of combate be appointed,

And there to try each others right or wrong,
With Eben staues and Sandbags, combatting

In Smithfield, before your royall Maiesty

Armour. And I accept the combate willingly.

Exit Humfrey.

Peter

Torke and Lancaster.

Peter. Alasse my Lord, I am not able for to fight.

Suf. You must either fight sirra, or else be hang'd:
Go take them hence againe to prison. Exit with them.

The Queene lets fall her gloue, and hits the Dutchesse of Gloster, a boxe on the eare.

Queene. Giue me my gloue. Why Minion can you not see?
Shee strikes her.

I cry you mercy Madam, I did mistake,
I did not thinke it had bene you.

Elnor. Did you not proud French-woman?
Could I come neere your dainty visage with my nayles,
I'de set my ten commandments in your face.

King. Be patient gentle Auut,
It was against her will.

Elnor. Against her will. Good King shee'll dandte thee,
If thou wilt alwayes thus be rul'd by her,
But let it rest: as sure as I do liue,
She shall not strike Dame Elnor vnreueng'd.

Exit Elnor.

King. Beleeue me my loue, thou wert much too blame:
I would not for a thousand pounds of Gold,
My Noble Vnckle had bene heere in place.

Enter Duke Humfrey.

But see where he comes: I am glad he met her not.
Vnkle Gloster, what answer makes your Grace,
Concerning our Regent for the Realme of France,
Whom thinke your Grace is meetest for to send.

Hum. My gracious Lord, then this is my resolute,
For that these words the Armourer should speake,
Doth breede suspition on the part of Yorke,
Let Somersset be Regent ore the French,
Till trials made, and Yorke may cleare himselfe.

King. Then be it so, my Lord of Somersset,
We make your Grace Regent ouer the French,
And to defend our right 'gainst forraine foes,

And

And take my leau to poste with speed to France,

King. Come Vnkle Gloster, now let's haue our horse,
For we will to Saint Albones presently.
Madam your Hawke they say is swift of flight,
And we will try how she will flye to day.

Enter Eleanor, with Sir Iohn Hum, Roger Bullenbrooke a Coniurer, and Margery Iourdaine a Witch.

Elnor. Heere sir Iohn, take this scrole of paper here,
Wherein is writ the questions you shall aske,
And I will stand vpon this Tower heere,
And heare the spirit what it sayes to you:
And to my questions, write the answers downe.

She goes up to the Tower.

Sir Iohn. Now sirs begin, and cast your spels about,
And charme the fiendes for to obey your wills,
And tell Dame Elnor of the thing she askes.

Witch. Then Roger Bullenbrooke about thy taske,
And frame a circle heere vpon the earth,
Whilst I thereon all prostrate on my face,
Do talke and whisper with the Diuels below,
And coniure them for to obey my will.

Shee lyes downe vpon her face.

Bullenbrooke makes a Circle.

Bullen. Darke night, dread night, the silence of the night,
Wherein the Furies maske in hellish troupes,
Send vp I charge you from Sofetus Lake,
The spirit Ascalon to come to mee,
To pierce the bowels of this Centricke earth,
And hither come in twinkling of an eye,

Card. Let me be blessed for the peace I make,
Against this proud Protector with my sword.

Hum. Faith holy Vnkle, I would it were come to that.

Card. Euen when thou dar'st.

Hum. Dare: I tel thee Priest, Plantagenets could neuer brook the dare.

Card. I am Plantagenet as well as thou, and sonne to Iohn of Gaunt.

Hum. In bastardy.

Card. I scorne thy words.

Hum. Make vppe no factious numbers, but euen in thine owne person meete me at the East end of the groue.

Card. Here's my hand, I will.

King. Why how now Lords?

Card. Faith Cosin Gloster, had not your man cast off so soone, we had had more sport to day, Come with thy sword and Buckler.

Hum. Gods mother Priest Ile shaue your crowne.

Card. Protector, protect thy selfe well.

King. The winde growes high, so dothy our choller Lords.

Enter one crying a miracle, a miracle.

How now? Now sirra, what miracle is it?

One. And it please your Grace, there is a man that came blind to S. Albones, and hath receiued his sight at the shrine.

King. Go fetch him hether, that wee may glorifie the lord with him.

Enter the Maior of Saint Albones, and his Brethren, with Musicke, bearing the man that had bene blind between two in a chaire

King. Thou happy man, giue God eternall praise,
For he it is that thus hath helped thee:

Where wast thou borne?

The contention of the two famous Houses,

Hum. At Barwicke, and come thus farre for helpe.

Poore man. I sir, it was told me in my sleepe,
 That sweete Saint Albones should giue me my sight againe,

Hum. What are lame too ?

P. man. I indeede sir, God helpe me.

Hum. How camst thou lame ?

P. man. With falling off a plum tree,

Hum. Wert thou blind & would climb plumtrees ?

P. man. Neuer but once sir in all my life,

My wife did long for plummes.

Hum. But tell me, wert thou borne blinde ?

P. man. I truly sir,

Woman. I indeed sir, he was borne blinde.

Hum. What art thou his mother ?

Woman. His wife sir.

Hum. Hadst thou beene his mother,

Thou couldst haue better tolde.

Why let me see, I thinke thou canst not see yet.

P. man. Yes truly master, as cleare as day.

Hum. Sayst thou so: what colour's his cloake ?

P. man. Red master, as red as blood.

Hum. And his cloake ?

P. man. Why that's greene.

Hum. And what colour's his hose ?

P. man. Yellow master, yellow as gold.

Hum. And what colour's my Gowne ?

P. man. Blacke sir, as blacke as Iet.

King. Then belike he knowes what colour iet is on.

Suf. And yet I thinke Iet did he neuer see.

Hum. But clokes & gowns ere this day many a one.

But tell me sirra, what's my name ?

P. man. Alas master I know not.

Hum. What's his name ?

P. man. I know not.

Hum. Nor his ?

P. man. No truly sir.

Hum. Nor his name ?

of Torke and Lancaster.

P. man. No indeede master.

Hum. Whats thine owne name?

P. man. Sander, and it please you maister.

Hum. Then Sander sit there, the lyingest knaue in Christendom. If thou hadst bene borne blinde, thou mightst aswel haue knowne all our names, as thus to name the seuerall colours we do weare. Sight may distinguish of colours, but sodainly to nominate them all, it is impossible. + My Lords, S. Albones heere hath done a miracle, & would you not think his cunning to bee great, that could restore this Cripple to his legs againe.

P. man. Oh master I would you could.

Hum. My Masters of S. Albones,
Haue you not Beadles in your Towne,
And things call'd whippes?

Mayor. Yes my Lord, if it please your Grace.

Hum. Then send for one presently.

Maioir. Sirra, go fetch the Beadle hither straight. Exit one.

Hum. Now fetch me a stoole hither by and by.
Now sirra, if you meane to saue your selfe from whipping,
Leape me ouer this stoole, and runne away.

Enter a Beadle.

P. man. Alas master I am not able to stand alone,
You go about to torture me in vaine.

Hum. VVell sir, we must haue you finde your legges,
Sirra Beadle, whip him till he leape ouer that same stoole.

Beadle. I will my Lord, come on sirra, off with your Doublet quickly.

Poore man. Alas master what shall I do, I am not able to stand.

After the Beadle hath bit him one ierke, he leapes ouer the stoole, and runnes away, and they run after him, crying a Myracle, a Myracle.

Hum. A miracle, a miracle, let him be taken againe, and whipte through euery Market Towne till he comes at Barwicke where he was borne.

Maioir. It shall be done my Lord.

Exit Mayor.

Suf. My Lord Protector hath done wonders to day,

The contention of the two famous Houses,

Humph. I, but you did greater wonders, whē you made whole Dukedomes flye in a day.

Witnesse France.

King. Haue done I say, and let me heare no more of that.*Enter the Duke of Buckingham.*What newes brings Duke Humphrey of Buckingham?Buck. Ill newes for some my Lord, and this it is,That proud dame Elnor our Protector's Wife,

Hath plotted Treasons gainst the King and Peeres,

By witchcrafts, forceries, and coniurings,

Who by such meanes did raise a spirit vp,

To tell her what hap should betide the State,

But ere they had finisht their diuellish drift,

By Yorke and my selfe they were all surpriz'de,

And heeres the answere the diuell did make to them.

King. First of the King, what shall become of him?Reads. The Duke yet liues, that Henry shall depose,

Card. Heeres good stuffe, how now my Lord Protector,

This newes I thinke hath turnd your weapons point,

I am in doubt youle scarsely keepe your promise.

Humph. Forbeare ambitious Prelate to vrge my greefe,

And pardon me my gracious Soueraigne,

For heere I sweare vnto your Maieſty,

That I am guiltlesse of these hainous crimes

Which my ambitious wife hath falsly done,

And for she would betray her soueraigne Lord,

I heere renounce her from my bed and boord,

And

of Yorke and Lancaster.

And leaue her open for the law to iudge,
Vnlesse she cleare her selfe of this foule deed.

King. Come my Lords, this night weele lodge in S. Albones,
And to morrow we will ride to London,
And trie the vtmost of these treasons forth,
Come vnckle Gloster along with vs,
My minde doth tell me thou art innocent.

Exit omnes.

Enter the Duke of Yorke, and the Earles of Salisbury and Warwicke.

Yorke. My Lords, our simple supper ended thus,
Let me reueale vnto your honors heere,
The right and title of the house of Yorke
To Englands Crowne by lineall descent.

War. Then Yorke begin, and if thy claime be good,
The Neuils are thy subiects to command.

Yorke. Then thus my Lords,
Edward the third had seuen sonnes,
The first was Edward the blacke Prince,
Prince of Wales.

The second was William of Hatfield,
Who dyed young.

The third was Lyonell, Duke of Clarence.

The fourth was Iohn of Gaunt,
The Duke of Lancaster.

The fift was Edmund of Langley,
Duke of Yorke.

The sixt was William of Windsore,
Who dyed young.

The seauenth and last was Sir Thomas of Woodstocke, Duke of Yorke.

Now Edward the blacke Prince dyed before his Father, leauing behinde him two sonnes, Edward borne at Angolesme, who died young, and Richard that was after crowned King, by the name of Richard the second, who dyed without an heyre.

The contention of the two famous Houses,

Lyonell Duke of Clarence dyed, and left him one only daughter, named Phillip, who was married to Edmund Mortimer earle of March and Ulster: and so by her I claime the Crowne, as the true heire to Lyonell Duke of Clarence, third sonne to Edward the third. Now sir, in time of Richards reigne, Henry of Bullingbrooke, sonne and heire to Iohn of Gaunt, the Duke of Lancaster fourth sonne to Edward the third, he claim'd the Crowne, deposd the Merthfull King, and as both you know, in Pomfret Castle harmeless Richard was shamefully murdered, and so by Richards death came the house of Lancaster vnto the Crowne.

Sal. Sauing your tale my Lord, as I haue heard in the reigne of Bullenbrooke, the Duke of Yorke did claime the Crowne, and but for Owen Glendour had bene King.

Yorke. True: but so it fortun'd then, by meanes of that monstrous rebell Glendour, the noble Duke of Yorke was putte to death, and so euer since the heires of Iohn of Gaunt haue possessed the Crowne. But if the issue of the elder should succeed before the issue of the younger, then am I lawfull heire vnto the Kingdome.

Warwicke. VVhat proceedings can be more plain, he claimes it from Lyonell Duke of Clarence, the third sonne to Edward the third, and Henry from Iohn of Gaunt the fourth sonne. So that till Lionels issue failes, his should not reigne. It fayles not yet, but flourisheth in thee and in thy sonnes, braue slips of such a stocke. Then noble father, kneele we both together, & in this priuate place, be we the first to honour him with birth-right to the Crowne.

Both. Long liue Richard Englands royall King.

Yorke. I thanke you both. But Lords I am not your King, vntil this sword be sheathed euen in the hart blood of the house of Lancaster.

War. Then Yorke aduise thy selfe, and take thy time,
 Claime thou the Crowne, and set thy standard vp,
 And in the same aduance the milke-white Rose,
 And then to guard it, will I rowse the Beare,
 Environ'd with ten thousand Ragged stauces,
 To aide and helpe thee for to win thy right,

Mauger

Yorke and Lancaster.

Mauger the proudest Lord of Henries blood,
That dares deny the right and claime of Yorke,
For why, my minde presageeth I shall liue
To see the noble Duke of Yorke to be a King.

Yorke. Thanks noble Warwicke, and Yorke doth hope to see,
The Earle of Warwicke liue, to bee the greatest man in England, but the King. Come lets goe.

Exit omnes.

Enter King Henry and the Queene, Duke Humfrey, the Duke of Suffolk, and the Duke of Buckingham, the Cardinall, and Dame Elnor Cobham, led with the Officers, and then enter to them the Duke of Yorke, and the Earles of Salisbury and Warwicke.

King. Stand forth Dame Elnor Cobham Dutches of Gloster, and heare the sentence pronounced against thee for these treasons, that thou hast committed against Vs, our State and Peeres.

First for thy hainous crime, thou shalt two dayes in London do pennance barefoot in the streetes, with a white sheete about thy body, and a waxe Taper burning in thy hand. That done, thou shalt be banished for euer into the Isle of Man, there to end thy wretched daies; and this is our sentence irreuocable. Away with her.

Elnor. Euen to my death, for I haue liued too long.

Exit some with Elnor.

King. Greeue not noble Vnckle, but be thou glad, In that these treasons thus are come to light, Least God had pourde his vengeance on thy head, For her offences that thou heldst so deare.

Humph. Oh gracious Henry, giue me leaue a while, To leaue your Grace, and to depart away, For sorrowes teares hath gripte my aged heart, And makes the fountaines of mine eyes to swell, And therefore good my Lord, let me depart.

King. With all my hart good vnckle, whē you please Yet ere thou goest, Humfrey resigne thy staffe, For Henry will be no more protected, The Lord shall be my guide both for my land and me.

The contention of the two famous Houses,

Hum. My staffe, I noble Henry, my life and all,
My staffe, I yeelde as willing to be thine,
As ere thy Noble father made it mine:
And euen as willing at thy feete I leaue it,
As others would ambitiously receiue it,
And long hereafter, when I am dead and gone,
May honourable peace attend thy throne.

King. Vnkle Gloster, stand vp and go in peace,
No lesse belou'd of vs, then when Thou wert Protector ouer this my land. Exit Gloster.

Queene. Take vp the staffe, for heere it ought to stand,
Where should it be, but in King Henries hand?

York. Please it your Maiestie, this is the day
That was appointed for the combating Betweene the Armourer and his man, my Lord,
And they are ready when your Grace doth please.

King. Then call them forth, that they may try their rights.

Enter at one doore the Armourer and his neighbours, drinking to him so much that he is drunken, and he enters with a drum before him, and his staffe with a sandbag fastened to it, and at the other doore his man with a drum and sandbag, and Prentises drinking to him.

1 Neighbor. Here neighbour Horner, I drinke to you in a cup of Sacke; and feare not neighbor, you shall do well enough.

2 Neigh. And here neighbor, here's a cup of Charneco.

3 Neigh. Here's a pot of good double beere, neighbor drinke and be merry, and feare not your man.

Arm. Let it come, yfaith Ile pledge you all,
And a figge for Peter.

1 Pren. Here Peter, I drinke to thee, and be not affraid.

2 Pren. Here Peter, here's a pinte of Claret wine for thee.

3 Pren. And here's a quart for me, and be merry Peter,
And feate not thy master, fight for credit of the Prentises.

Peter. I thanke you all, but Ile drinke no more:

Heere Robin, and if I dye, heere I giue thee my hammer,
And Will thou shalt haue my aperne: and heere Tom,

Take

Yorke and Lancaster.

Take all the money that I haue.

O Lord blesse me I pray God, for I am neuer able to deale with my master, he hath learn'd so much sence already.

Salis. Come leaue your drinking, and fall to blowes.

Sirra, what's thy name?

Pet. Peter forsooth.

Salf. Peter : what more?

Pet. Thumpe.

Salf. Thumpe, then see that thou thumpe thy maister.

Arm. Here's to thee Neighbour, fill all the pots againe, for before wee fight, looke you, I will tell you my minde; for I am come hither as it were of my mans instigation, to proue my selfe an honest man, and Peter a knaue : and so haue at you Peter with downright blowes, as Beuis of South-hampton fell vppon Ascapart.

Pet. Law you now, I told you hee's in his sence already.

Alarmes, Peter hits him on the head and fels him.

Arm. Hold Peter, I confesse, Treason, treason. He dies.

Pet. O God I giue thee praise. He kysels downe

Pren. Ho well done Peter. God saue the King.

King. Go take hence that Traitor from our sight,

For by his death we do perceiue his guilt,

And God in iustice hath reueal'd to vs

The truth and innocence of this poore fellow,

Which he had thought to haue murdered wrongfully.

Come fellow, follow vs for thy reward.

Exit omnes.

Enter Duke Humfrey and his men, in mourning cloakes.

Hum. Sirra, what's a clocke?

Seruing. Almost ten my Lord.

Hum. Then is that wofull houre hard at hand,

That my poore Lady should come by this way,

In shamefull penance wandering in the streets.

Sweet Nell, ill can thy noble minde abrooke

The abiect people gazing on thy face,

With enuious lookes laughing at thy shame,

That erst did follow thy proud Chariot wheelcs,

The contention of the two famous Houses,
When thou didst ride in triumph through the streetes

Enter Dame Elnor Cobham bare-foote, and a white sheete about her, with a wake Candle in her hand, and verses written on her backe & pind on, and accompanied with the Sheriffes of London, and Sir Iohn Standly, and Officers, with Bils and Holbards.

+ 17 Serving. My gracious Lord, see wher my Lady comes,
Please it your grace, weele take her from the Sheriffes?

+ 19 Humph. I charge you for your liues stir not a foote,
Nor offer once to draw a weapon heere,
But let them do their office as they should.

+ 20 Elnor. Come you my Lord to see my open shame?
Ah Gloster, now thou dost penance too,
See how the giddy people looke at thee,
Shaking their heads, and pointing at thee heere,
Go get thee gone, and hide thee from their sights,
+ 24 And in thy pent vp study rue my shame,
And ban thine enemies. Ah mine and thine.

+ Hum. Ah Nell, sweet Nell, forget this extreme grieffe,
And beare it patiently to ease thy heart.

+ 28 Elnor. Ah Gloster, teach me to forget my selfe,
For whilst I thinke I am thy wedded wife,
* The thought of this doth kill my wofull heart.

+ 34 The ruthlesse flints do cut my tender feete,
+ And when I start, the cruell people laugh,

+ 36 And bids me be aduised how I tread,
+ And thus with burning Tapor in my hand,
31 Malde vp in shame, with papers on my backe,

+ 37 Ah Gloster, can I endure this and liue?
+ 42 Sometime ile say I am Duke Humphreys wife,
+ And he a Prince, Protector of the land,

+ 44 But so he rulde, and such a Prince he was,
As he stood by, whilst I his fore-lorne Dutchesse
+ Was led with shame, and made a laughing stocke,
To euery idle rascald follower.

+ 47
+ 50 Humphrey. My louely Nell, what wouldst thou haue me do?
Should

Torke and Lancaster.

Should I attempt to rescue thee from hence,
I should incur the danger of the law,
And thy disgrace would not be shadowed so.

Elnor. Be thou milde, and stir not at my disgrace,
Vntill the axe of death hang ore thy head,
As shortly sure it will. For Suffolke he,
The new made Duke, that may do all in all
With her that loues him so, and hates vs all,
And impious Torke, and Bewford that false Priest,
Haue all lymde bushes to betray thy wings,
And fyce thou how thou canst, they will entangle thee.

Enter a Herald of Armes.

Herald. I summon your Grace vnto his Highnes Parliament, holden at S. Edmonds-Bury, the first of the next Momh.

Hum. A Parliament, and our consent neuer craude Therein before. This is —————
Well, we will be there.

Exit Herald.

Master Sheriffe, I pray proceede no further against my Lady, then the course of law extends.

Sher. Please it your Grace, my office here doth end,
And I must deliuer her to Sir John Standly.
To be conducted into the Isle of Man.

Humsfrey. Must you sir John conduct my Lady?

Standly. I my gracious Lord, for so it is decreed,
And I am so commanded by the King.

Humph. I pray you sir John, vse her nere the worse,
In that I intreate you to vse her well.

The world may smile againe, and I may liue
To do you fauour, if you do it her,
And so sir John farewell.

Elnor. What gone my Lord, and bid not me farewell

Humph. Witnesse my bleeding heart, I cannot stay to speake

Exit Humsfrey and his men.

Elnor. Then is he gone, is noble Gloster gone,
And doth Duke Humsfrey now forsake me too?
Then let me haste from our faire Englands bounds,
Come Standly come, and let vs haste away.

King. I wonder our Vnkle Gloster staves so long.
Queene. Can you not see? or will you not perceiue,
 How that ambitious Duke doth vse himselfe?
 The time hath beene, but now the time is past,
 That none so humble as Duke Humfrey was:
 But now let one meete him euen in the morne,
 When euery one will giue the time of day,
 Yet he will neither moue nor speake to vs.
 See you not how the Commons follow him
 In troopes, crying, God saue the good Duke Humfrey.
 Honouring him as if he were their King?
 Gloster is no little man in England,
 And if he list to stirre commotions,
 Tis likely that the people will follow him.
 My Lord, if you imagine there is no such thing,
 Then let it passe, and call't a Womans feare.
 My Lord of Suffolke, Buckingham, and Yorke, Disproue my allegations if you can,
 And by your speeches, if you can reprove me,
 I will subscribe and say, I wrong'd the Duke.
Suf. Well hath your Grace foreseene into that Duke,
 And if I had beene licenc'd first to speake,
 I thinke I should haue told your Graces tale.
 Smooth runnes the brooke, vvhich whereas the streame is deepest.

No,

Yorke and Lancaſter.

No, no, my Soueraigne, Gloſter is a man
Vnfounded yet, and full of deepe deceite.

Enter the Duke of Somerſet.

King. Welcome Lord Somerſet, what newes from France?

Somer. Cold newes my Lord, and this it is.
That all your holds and Townes within thoſe Territories
Is ouercome my Lord; all is loſt.

King. Cold newes indeede Lord Somerſet, but Gods will bee done.

Yorke. Cold newes for me, for I had hope of France,
Euen as I haue of fertile England.

Enter Duke Humfrey.

Hum. Pardon my Liege, that I haue ſtaide ſo long.

Suf. Nay Gloſter know, that thou art come too ſoone,
Vnleſſe thou proue more loyall then thou art,
We do arreſt thee on high Treason heere.

Hum. Why Suffolkes Duke thou ſhalt not ſee me bluſh,
Nor change my countenance for thine arreſt
Whereof I am guilty, who are my accuſers?

Yorke. Tis thought my lord your grace took bribes from France,
And ſtopt the ſoldiers of their pay,
Through which his Maieſty hath loſt all France.

Hum. Is it but thought ſo? And who are they that thinke ſo?
So God me helpe, as I haue watcht the night,
Euer intending good for England ſtill,
That peny that euer I tooke from France,
Be brought againſt me at the iudgement day.
I neuer rob'd the ſoldiers of their pay,
Many a pound of mine owne proper coſt
Haue I ſent ouer for the ſoldiers wants,
Because I would not racke the needie Commons.

Car. In your Proteſtorſhip you did deuise
Strange torments for offenders, by which meanes
England hath bene defam'd by tyrannie.

Hum. Why tis well knowne, that whilſt I was Proteſtor.
Pitty was all the fault that was in me:
A murderer or foule felonious Theefe,

The contention of the two famous Houses,

That robs and murders silly passengers,
I torturd aboute the rate of common law.

Suff. Tush my Lord, these be things of no account,
But greater matters are laid vnto your charge,
I do arrest thee on high treason heere,
And commit thee to my good Lord Cardinall,
Vntill such time as thou canst cleare thy selfe.

King. Good vnecke obey to his arrest,
I haue no doubt but thou shalt cleare thy selfe,
My conscience tels me thou art innocent.

Hum. Ah gracious Henry, these dayes are dangerous
And would my death might end these miseries,
And stay their moodes for good King Henries sake,
But I am made the Prologue to their play,
And thousands more must follow after me.
That dreads not yet their liues destruction.

Suffolkes hatefull tongue blabs his hearts malice,
Bewfords fiery eyes shewes his enuious minde,
Buckingshams proud lookes bewraies his cruel thoughts,
And dogged Torke that leuels at the Moone,
Whose ouerweening arme I haue held backe.

All you haue ioynd to betray me thus:
And you my gracious Lady and soueraigne Mistresse,
Causelesse haue laid complaints vpon my head,
I shall not want false witnessses enough,
That so amongst you, you may haue my life.

The Prouerbe no doubt will be perform'd,
A staffe is quickly found to beate a dog.

Suff. Doth he not twit our soueraigne Lady here,
As if that she with ignominious wrong,
Had suborn'd or hired some to sweare against his life.

Qu. But I can give the loser leaue to speake.

Hum. Far truer spoke then meant, I lose indeed,
Bethrew the winners hearts, they play me false.

Buck. Heele wrest the sence, and keepe vs here al day
My Lord of Winchester, see him sent away.

Car. Who's within there? Take in Duke Humfrey,

And

Torke and Lancaſter.

And ſee him garded ſure within my houſe.

Hum. Oh, thus King Henry caſts away his crouch,
Before his legs can beare his body vp,
And puts his watchfull ſhepherd from his ſide,
Whilſt wolues ſtand ſnarring who ſhall bite him firſt,
Farwell my ſoueraigne, long maiſt thou enjoy
Thy fathers happy daies, free from annoy.

Exit Humfrey with the Cardinals men.

King. My Lords, what to your wiſdoms ſhal ſeem beſt
Do and vndo as if our ſelfe were heere.

Qu. What, wil your highneſſe leaue the Parliament?

King. I Margaret, My heart is kild with grieſe,
Where I may ſit and ſigh in endleſſe mone,
For who's a Traitor, Gloſter he is none.

Exit King, Salisbury and Warwick.

Qu. Then ſit we downe againe my Lord Cardinall, Suffolke, Buckingham, Torke and Somerſet.

Let vs conſult of proud Duke Humfries fall,
In mine opinion it were good he dide,
For ſafety of our King and Common-wealth.

Suf. And ſo thinke I Madam, for as you know,
If our King Henry had ſhooke hands with death,
Duke Humfrey then would looke to be our King:
And it may be by pollicie he workes,
To bring to paſſe the thing which now we doubt,
The Foxe barks not when he would ſteale the Lamb,
But if we take him ere he do the deed,
We ſhould not queſtion if that he ſhould liue.

Torke No, let him die, in that he is a Foxe,
Leaſt that in liuing he offend vs more.

Car. Then let him die before the Commons know,
For feare that they do riſe in armes for him.

Torke. Then do it ſodainly my Lords.

Suff. Let that be my Lord Cardinals charge & mine.

The wilde Onele my Lords, is vp in armes,
 With troupes of Irish Kernes, that vncontrold
 Doth plant themselues within the English pale.
 And burnes and spoiles the Country as they go.

Qu. What redresse shall we haue for this, My Lords?Yorke. 'Twere good that my Lord of Somerſet

That fortunate Champion were sent ouer,
 To keepe in awe the stubborne Irishmen,
 He did so much good when he was in France.

Somer. Had Yorke bene there with all his farre fetcht

 That France should haue reuolted from Englands rule.Somer. I so thou mightst, and yet haue govern'd worse then I*Yorke.* What, worse then naught? then a shame take all.Somer. Shame on thy selfe, that wisheth shame.Queen. Somerſet forbear, good Yorke be patient,

And do thou take in hand to crosse the seas,

 Let me haue some bandes of chosen soldiers,
 And Yorke shall trie his fortunes 'gainst those Kernes.Queen. Yorke thou shalt. My Lord of Buckingham,
 Let it be it your charge to muster vp such soldiers
 As shall suffice him in these needfull warres.Buck. Madame I will, and leuie such a band.
 As soone shall ouercome those Irish Rebels.
 But Yorke, where shall those Soldiours stay for thee?Yorke. At Bristow, I'le expect them ten daies hence.Buck. Then thither shall they come, and so farwell.Exit Buck.Yorke. Adieu my Lord of Buckingham.Queen. Suffolke, remember what you haue to do.
 And you Lord Cardinall, concerning Duke Hunsfrey.
 'Twere good that you did see to it in time,

Torke and Lancaster.

Come let vs go, that it may be perform'd.

Exit omnes, Manet Yorke.

Yorke. Now Yorke bethinke thy selfe, and rouze thee vp,

Take time whilst it is offered thee so faire,

Least when thou wouldst, thou canst it not attaine,

T'was men I lackt, and now they giue them me,

And now whilst I am busie in Ireland,

I haue seduc'd a head-strong Kentishman,

John Cade of Asbford,

Vnder the title of John Mortimer,

(For he is like him euery kinde of way)

To raise commotion, and by that meanes

I shall perceiue how the common people

Do affect the claime and house of Yorke,

Then if he haue successe in his affaires,

From Ireland then comes Yorke againe,

To reape the haruest which that coystrill sowed,

Now if he should be taken and condemn'd,

Hee'l nere confesse that I did set him on,

And therefore ere I go ile send him word,

To put in practise and to gather head,

That so soone as I am gone he may begin

To rise in armes with troopes of country swaines,

To helpe him to performe this enterprize.

And then Duke Humsfrey, he well made away,

None then can stop the light to Englands Crowne,

But Yorke can tame, and headlong pull them downe.

Exit Yorke.

Then the Curtaines being drawne, Duke Humsfrey is discovered in his bed and two men lying on his brest, and smothering him in his bed.

And then enter the Duke of Suffolke to them.

Suff. How now sirs, what haue you dispatcht him?

One I my Lord, hee's dead I warrant you.

Suff. Then see the cloathes laid smoothe about him still,

That when the King comes, he may perceiue

No other, but that he dide of his owne accord.

Salisb. I will sonne.

Warwicke drawes the Curtaines, and shewes Duke Humfrey in his bed.

King. Ah Vnkle Gloster, heauen receiue thy soule,
 Farewell poore Henries ioy now thou art gone.

War. Now by his soule that tooke our shape vpon him,
 To free vs from his Fathers dreadfull curse,
 I am resolu'd that violent hands were laide
 Vpon the life of this thrice famous Duke.

Suf. A dreadfull oath, sworne with a solemne tongue,
 What instance giues Lord Warwicke for these words?

War. Oft haue I scene a timely parted Ghost,
 Of ashy semblance, pale and bloodlesse;
 But loe the blood is setled in his face,
 More better coloured then when he liu'd.
 His well proportion'd beard made rough and sterne,
 His fingers spred abroad as one that graspt for life,
 Yet was by strength surpris'd, the least of these are probable,
 It cannot choose but he was murdered.

Qu. Suffolke, and the Cardinall had him in charge,
 And they I trust sir, are no murtherers.

War. I, but tis well knowne they were not his friends,
 And tis well scene he found some enemies.

Card. But haue ye no greater proofes then these?

War. Who sees a heysfer dead and bleeding fresh,

The contention of the two famous Houses.

And sees hard by a butcher with an Axe,
 But will suspect twas he that made the slaughter?
 Who finds the Partridge in the puttockes nest,
 But will imagine how the bird came there,
 Although the Kyte sore with vnbloody beake?
 Euen so suspitious is this Tragedy.

Qu. Are you the Kyte Bewford, where's his talents?
 Is Suffolke the butcher, where's his knife?

Suffolke. I wear no knife to slaughter sleeping men,
 Yet here's a vengefull sword rusted with ease,
 That shall be scoured in his rancorous heart,
 That slanders me with murders Crimfon badge,
 Say if thou dare, proud Lord of Warwickshire,
 That I am guilty in Duke Humfries death.

Exit Cardinas

War. What dares not Warwicke, if false Suffolke dare him?

Qu. He dares not calme his contumelious spirit,
 Nor cease to be an arrogant controller,
 Though Suffolke dare him twenty hundred times.

War. Madam be still, with reuerence may I say it,
 That euery word you speake in bis defence,
 Is slander to your royall Maiesty.

Suf. Blunt witted Lord, ignoble in thy words,
 If euer Lady wrong'd her Lord so much,
 Thy mother tooke vnto her blamefull bed,
 Some sterne vntutor'd Churle, and Noble stocke
 Was graft with Crab-tree slip, whose fruite thou art,
 And neuer of the Neuels noble race.

War. But that the guilt of murder bucklers thee,
 And I should rob the deathsmen of his fee,
 Quitting thee thereby of ten thousand shames;
 And that my soueraignes presence makes mee mute,
 I would false murtherous coward on thy knees,
 Make thee craue pardon for thy passed speech,
 And say it was thy mother that thou meantst:
 That thou thy selfe was borne in bastardy,
 And after all this fearefull homage done,

of Yorke and Lancaster.

Giue thee thy hire, and send thee downe to hell,
Pernitious blood-sucker of sleeping men.

Suf. Thou shouldst be waking whilst I shed thy blood,
If from this presence thou dare go with mee.

War. Away euen now, or I will drag thee hence.

Warwicke puls him out.

Exit Warwicke and Suffolke, and then all the Commons within, cries, downe with Suffolke, downe with Suffolke. And then enter againe, the Duke of Suffolke and Warwicke, with their weapons drawne.

King. Why how now Lords ?

Suff. The traiterous Warwicke, with the men of Berry,
Set all vpon me mightie Soueraigne.

The Commons againe cries, downe with Suffolke, downe with Suffolke. And then enter from them, the Earle of Salisburie.

Salisb. My Lord, the Commons sends you word by me,
That vnlesse false Suffolke here be done to death,
Or banished faire Englands Territories,
That they will erre from your highnesse person :
They say by him the good Duke Humfrey dyed,
They say by him they feare the ruine of the Realme,
And therefore if you loue your subiects weale,
They wish you to banish him from forth the land.

Suf. Indeed tis like the Commons, rude vnpolitht hindes
Would send such messlage to their Soueraigne :

But you my Lord were glad to be imploy'd,
To try how quaint an Orator you were:

But all the honour Salisbury hath got,
Is, that he was the Lord Embassador,
Sent from a sort of Tinkers to the King.

The Commons cries, an answere from the King my Lord of Salisbury.

King. Good Salisbury go backe againe to them,
Tell them we thanke them all for their kinde care,
And had I not bene cited thus by their meanes,
My selfe had done it. Therefore heere I swear,
If Suffolke be found to breathe in any place

Where I haue rule, but three dayes more, he dies. Exit Salisbury

Queene. Hell fire and vengeance go along with you,
 There's two of you, the diuell make the third,
 Fie womanish man, canst thou not curse thy enemies?
Suff. A plague vpon them, wherefore should I curse them?
 Could curses kill as do the Mandrakes grones,
 I would inuent as many bitter termes,
 Deliuered strongly through my fixed teeth,
 With twice so many signes of deadly hate,
 As leane fac'd enuy in her loathsome caue.
 My tongue should stumble in mine earnest words,
 Mine eyes should sparkle like the beaten flint,
 My haire be fixt on end, as one distraught,
 And euery ioynt should seeme to curse and ban,
 And now me-thinkes my burthened heart would breake,
 Should I not curse them. Poison be their drinke,
 Gall worse then gall, the daintiest thing they taste,
 Their sweetest shade a groue of Cypresse trees,
 Their softest touch as smart as lizards stings.
 Their musicke frightfull, like the serpens hisse.
 And boding scritch-owles make the consort full.
 All the foule terrors in darke seated hell.

Qu. Enough sweete Suffolke, thou torments thy selfe.

Suff. You bad me ban, and will you bid me cease?

Now by this ground that I am banisht from,
 Well could I curse away a winters night,
 And standing naked on a Mountaine top,
 Where byting cold would neuer let grasse grow,
 And thinke it but a minute spent in sport,

Torke and Lancaſter.

Queene. No more. Sweete Suffolke hie thee hence to France,
Or liue where thou wilt within this worlds globe,
Ile haue an Irish that ſhalt finde thee our,
And long thou ſhalt not ſtay, but ile haue thee repeald,
Or venter to be baniſhed my ſelfe.

Oh let this kiſſe be printed in thy hand,
That when thou ſeeſt it, thou maiſt thinke on me.

Away I ſay, that I may feele my grieſe,
For it is nothing whilſt thou ſtandeſt heere.

Suffolke. Thus is poore Suffolke ten times baniſhed,
Once by the King, but three times thrice by thee.

Enter Vawſe.

Queene. How now, whither goes Vawſe ſo faſt?

Vawſe. To ſignifie vnto his Maieſty,
That Cardinall Bewford is at point of death,
Sometimes he raues and cries as he were mad,
Sometimes he cals vpon Duke Humfries Ghost,
And whiſpers to his Pillow as to him,
And ſometimes he cals to ſpeake vnto the King,
And I am going to certifie vnto his Grace,
That euen now he cald aloud for him.

Queene. Go then good Vawſe and certifie the King.

Exit Vawſe.

Oh what is worldly pompe, all men muſt die,
And woe am I for Bewford's heauy end.
But why mourne I for him, whilſt thou art heere?
Sweete Suffolke hie thee hence to France,
For if the King do come, thou ſure muſt die.

Suff. And if I go I cannot liue: but heere to die,
VVhat were it elſe, but like a pleaſant ſlumber in thy lap?
Heere could I breathe my ſoule into the ayre,
as milde and gentle as the new borne babe,
That dies with mothers dug betweene his lips,
VVhere from my fight I ſhould be raging madde,
and call for thee to cloſe mine eyes,
Or with thy lips to ſtop my dying ſoule,
That I might breathe it ſo into thy body,

By thee to die, were but to dye in ieast,
From thee to dye, were torment more then death,

Queene. Oh mightst thou stay with safety of thy life,
Then shouldst thou stay, but heauens deny it,
And therefore go, but hope ere long to be repeald.

Cardinall is discovered in his bed, rauing and staring as if he were mad.*

Car. Oh death, if thou wilt let me liue but one whole yeare,
I'll giue thee as much gold as will purchase such another Island.

King. Oh, seemy Lord of Salisbury how he is troubled,
Lord Cardinall, remember Christ must saue thy soule.

Car. Why died he not in his bed?

What would you haue me to do then?

Can I make men liue whether they will or no?

Sirra. go fetch me the poyson which the Pothicary sent me.

Oh, see where Duke Hunfries ghost doth stand,

And stares me in the face. Looke, looke, coame downe his haire,
So now hee's gone againe: Oh, oh, oh.

Sal. See how the pangs of death doth gripe his heart.

King. Lord Cardinall if thou diest assured of heauenly blisse,

Hold vp thy hand and make some signe to vs.

Car. dies.

Torke and Lancaster.

King. Forbeare to iudge, good Salsbury forbeare,
For God will iudge vs all.
Go take him hence, and see his funerals perform'd.

Alarmer within, and the Chambers bee discharged, like as it were a fight at sea. And then enter the Captaine of the ship, and the Master, and the Masters mate, and the Duke of Suffolke disguised, and others with him, & Water Whickmore.

Cap. Bring forward these prisoners that scorn'd to yeeld,
Vnlade their goods with speed, and sincke their ship,
Here Master, this prisoner I giue to you.
This other, the Masters mate shall haue,
And Water Whickmore thou shalt haue this man,
And let them pay their ransome ere they passe.

Suffolke. Water!

He starteth.

Water. How now, what dost feare me?
Thou shalt haue better cause anon.

Suff. It is thy name affrights me, not thy selfe.
I do remember well, a cunning wizzard told me,
That by Water I should dye:
Yet let not that make thee bloody minded,
Thy name being rightly sounded,
Is Gualter, not Water.

Water. Gualter or Water, al's one to me,
I am the man must bring thee to thy death.

Suff. I am a Gentleman, looke on my Ring,
Ransome me at what thou wilt, it shall be paid.

Water. I lost mine eye in boording of the ship,
And therefore ere I Merchant-like sell blood for gold,
Then cast me headlong downe into the sea.

2. Prison. But what shall our ransomes be?

Mai. A hundred pounds a peece eyther pay that or dye.

2. Prison. Then saue our liues, it shall be paid.

Suff. A Swordar and Bandetto slaue
Murthered sweete Tully.

Brutus bastard hand stabd Iulius Cæsar,
And Suffolke dyes by Pirates on the seas.

Exit Suffolke and Water.

Cap. Off with his head, and send it to the Queene,
And ranfomlesse this prisoner shall go free,
To see it safe deliuered vnto her.

Come lets go.

George. Come away Nicke, and put a long staffe in thy pike, & prouide thy selfe, for I can tell thee, they haue bene vp this two dayes.

Nicke. Then they had more neede to go to bed now,
But firra George, what's the matter ?

George. Why firra, Iack Cade the Dier of Ashford heere,
He meanes to turne this land, and set a new nap on't.

Nicke. I marry he had need so, for tis growne thred-bare,
Twas neuer merry world with vs, since these Gentlemen came vp.

George. I warrant thee thou shalt neuer see a Lord weare a leather apron now a-daies.

Nicke. But firra, who comes else beside Iacke Cade ?

George. Why there's Dicke the butcher, and Robin the Sadler, and Will that came a wooing to our Nan last Sunday, and Harry and Tom, and Gregory that should haue your Parnill, & a great fort more is come from Rochester, and from Maidstone & Can-

For looke you, Roger Mortimer the Earle of March,

King. Sir Humfrey Stafford and his brother is slaine, And the Rebels march amaine to London. Go backe to them, and tell them thus from me, Ile come and parley with their Generall.

Yet stay, Ile reade the Letter once againe ; Lord Say, Iacke Cade hath solemnly vow'd to haue thy head.

Say. I, but I hope your highnesse shall haue his.

King. How now Madam, still lamenting and mourning for Suffolkes death ? I feare my Loue if I had bin dead, thou woldst not haue mourn'd so much for me.

Qu. No my loue, I should not mourne, but dye for thee.

Enter a Messenger.

Mes. Oh flye my Lord, the Rebels are entred Southwarke, And haue almost wonne the Bridge, Calling your Grace an vsurper :

And that monstrous Rebell Cade, hath sworne To crowne himselfe King in Westminster, Therefore flye my Lord, and post to Killingworth.

The contention of the two famous Houses,

And more then so, thou hast most traitorously erected a Grammar schoole, to infect the youth of the Realme, and against the Kings Crowne and dignity, thou hast built vp a paper Mill; nay it will bee saide to thy face, that thou keep'st men in thy house that daily reads of bookes with red letters, & talks of a Nowne and a Verbe, and such abominable words as no Christian eare is able to endure it.

And besides all this, thou hast appointed certaine Iustices of the Peace, in euery shire, to hang honest men that steal for their liuing, and because they could not reade, thou hast hung them vp: onely for which cause, they were most worthy to liue.

Thou ridest on a foot-cloth, dost thou not?

Say. Yes, what of that?

Cade. Marry I say, thou oughtest not to let thy horse weare a cloake, when an honest man then thy selfe, goes in his hose & doublet.

Say. You men of Kent.

All. Kent, what of Kent?

 * Ah, aged pillar of all Cumberlands true house,
 + 45 Sweete father, to thy muredred ghost I sweare
 + 57 Immortall hate vnto the house of Yorke,
 * Nor neuer shall I sleepe secure one night,
 * Till I haue furiously reuendge thy death,
 * And left not one of them to breathe on earth.

He takes him vp on his backe.

+ 62 And thus as old Ankeses sonne did beare
 + 63 His aged father on his manly backe,
 * And fought with him against the bloody Greekes,
 + 63 Euen so will I. But stay, heer's one of them,
 * To whom my soule hath sworne immortall bate.

Enter

Torke and Lancaster.

Enter Richard, and then Clifford layes downe his father, fightes with him, and Richard flies away againe.

Out crook'd-backe villaine, get thee from my fight,
But I will after thee, and once againe
(When I haue borne my father to his Tent)
Ile try my fortune better with thee yet.

Exit yong Clifford with his Father.

Alarmes againe, and then enter three or foure, bearing the Duke of Buckingham wounded to his Tent.

Alarmes still, and then enter the King and Queene.

Queene. Away my Lord, and flye to London straight.
Make hast, for vengeance comes along with them:
Come, stand not so expostulate, let's go.

King. Come then faire Queene, to London let vs hast,
And summon vp a Parliament with speede,
To stop the fury of these dyre euent.

Exit King and Queene.

Alarmes, and then a flourish, and enter the Duke of Torke, Edward, and Richard.

Torke. How now boyes, fortunate this fight hath bene,
I hope to vs and ours, for Englands good,
And our great honour, that so long we lost,
Whilst faint-heart Henry did vsurpe our rights.
But did you see old Salisbury, since we
With bloody minds did buckle with the foe?
I would not for the losse of this right hand,
That ought but well betide that good old man.

Rich. My Lord, I saw him in the thickest throng,
Charging his Lance with his old weary armes,
And thrice I saw him beaten from his horse,
And thrice this hand did set him vp againe,
And still he fought with courage gainst his foes,
The boldest spirited man that ere mine eyes beheld.

V. iii.

*The contention of the two famous Houses,
Enter Salisbury and Warwicke.*

Edward. See noble Father, where they both do come,
The onely props vnto the house of Torke.

+15 Sal. Well hast thou fought this day, thou valiant Duke,
And thou braue bud of Torkes encreasing house,
* The small remainder of my weary life,
* I hold for thee, for with thy warlike arme,
+18 Three times this day thou hast preferu'd my life.

+24 Torke. VVhat say you Lords, the King is fled to London &
+25 There as I heere to hold a Parliament.

+27 VVhat saies Lord Warwicke, shall we after them?

War. After them, nay before them if we can:

30 Now by my faith Lords, t'was a glorious day,
Saint Albones battaile wonne by famous Torke,
Shall be eterniz'd in all age to come.
Sound Drums and Trumpets, and to London all,
33 And more such dayes as these, to vs befall.

Exit omnes.
